November Newsletter

A MESSAGE FROM THE EDITOR

Hello Mar Vista,

Here comes a fresh, new start. Recently, we've switched editor positions and now, I'm the newsletter editor.

I'm gradually adjusting to this post, so please bear with me. I'll make sure I get you up-to-date on the community service opportunities out there, and the events being held by our club.

The other new editor, Remy, D'Agnillo, is also adjusting to her new post as well as the tech editor, which involves her maintaining the website for our key club.

Both of us are looking forward to working together as an editing duo, keeping you up to date with the status of the club.

Thanks for reading,
Celine Calpo

Letter from the President

Hey, Key Clubbers! Do you have a cool idea for a fundraiser, or community service, bonding day? As a reminder, you are welcome to share your ideas with us anytime; just bring it up at any meeting! We hope to have more bonding days within these next few months. Thanks for being such great members of the club, and remember to wear your Key Club Shirts!

Thanks,
Mariko Nakawatase

KEY CLUB

RTC: Regional Training Conference

"RTC" stands for Regional Training Conference; basically, it's a day where key clubs from the same division meet to train members and officers to be better leaders and aspire to be good people in general.

Key club is fun, yes, but there's a serious side of it carefully explained during this conference. A multitude of workshops were hosted at Cuyamaca College, where key clubbers from our division learned to "BEE Less Awkward" and to also fundraise to meet goals.

Of course, many key clubbers took the opportunity to make friends and reunite with others who go to different schools during this event.

When asked about his experience at RTC, Justice Syverson had a limited vocabulary due to the amount of happiness and joy he had during the event. "It was great," he repeated, adding, "I saw a lot of people, and the spirit event was fun."

Kevin Borges also stated that he, too, had a great time, since we as a division managed to get 3rd place for our spirit and citizenship, being devoted to Key Club and showing it loud and proud. "Everyone was spirited out. We as a division went all out."

The conference also included some festivities that provoked even more interaction between key clubbers, such as a talent show and several dance-offs, which lightened the mood after learning the ropes of being a great key clubber.

After the event, there was a dance held as well to let members get loose and have fun after a long day.
